Stimulating the formation of collagen and elastin, the stem of the apple have a visible and valuable anti-aging effect, plump out wrinkles, preserving the vitality of the skin and delay the aging process.

The STEM CELLS OF RED VINE (Vitis vinifera) contain pro-anthocyanidins, molecules that possess an interesting property: they are radical scavengers, capable of "capturing" the free radicals and neutralizing them by making them no longer harmful to the cells of our body. Also being anti-oxidants act as a sunscreen, absorbing UV radiation.

The TEGO PEP 4-17® is a particularly innovative new active ingredient that stimulates collagen synthesis. The name is Tetrapeptide-21 and its action is to stimulate the fibroblasts, the cells responsible for the synthesis of collagen and elastin fibers, to replenish the skin's extracellular matrix. Its physiological activity has been demonstrated in vitro: the Tego® Pep 4-17 stimulates:

- collagen synthesis;
- the synthesis of glycosaminoglycans on fibroblasts;
- confirmed by in vivo studies, showing that:
- The skin roughness has decreased by almost 25%.
