CELLURID

INTEGRAL LINE FOR CELLULITE AND LOCALIZED FAT

An intensive professional treatment, ideal to combat all skin imperfections caused by cellulite and localized fat. The actions that the Cellurid line plays as a whole are:

- Drainage and expulsion of fluids.
- Reactivation of the circulation.
- Mobilization of fats.
- Action lipolytic and vasoprotective.

Its function is to reduce the volume of the adipocytes by lipolytic and smoothing action, moisturizing the skin to give a more toned appearance and activate the capillary circulation for a better drainage of the tissues. It develops a thermal effect that has a stimulating action on the microcirculation and allows the elimination of toxins.

Fights the causes of stagnation of liquids, it favors a gradual reduction of localized centimeters and acts as a potent lipo-reducer, making an obvious decrease in the appearance of cellulite.

The use of functional ingredients such as Fucus Algae, which accelerates the basal metabolic rate, the Ivy and Ginkgo Biloba (lipolytic, draining and fluidizing), which allow the elimination of toxins, and' Horse Chestnut and Thyme, to restructure and tone the capillaries, acting like a GPS tracking device that detects the focal point of the imperfection and works on it with a deep anti cellulite treatment.

ACTIVE PRINCIPLES

CARNITINE: Carnitine, derived amino acid, is a natural constituent of cells and is found in small amounts in all body cells, in which plays a vital role in the utilization of fats. It transports long-chain fatty acids into the mitochondria, and then allows the fatty acids to be transported out of the cell membrane to be oxidized (burned) within the mitochondria to produce energy.

CAFFEINE: Substance known for its stimulating action on the central nervous system, is also used in pharmaceutical preparations as an activating of the local metabolism. In cosmetics, it uses this action to activate the metabolism of the treated area, where it is slowed down (cellulitis, etc.). It also presents a slight diuretic drainage.

IVY: This can be found in the majority of remedies for the treatment of cellulite. In fact, the leaves of ivy have vasoconstrictor and astringent properties that prevent congestion and vasodilation, factors which play an important role in the genesis of cellulite. The anti-cellulite properties is attributable to the presence of saponins, while the flavonoids are important for improving the venous insufficiency..

SLIMMING THERMOACTIVE CONCENTRATE AMPOULES

COD. 52010_12 AMPOULES 15 ML

Intensive body treatment to combat and prevent cellulite with the action of its active ingredients that promote the mobilization of localized fat and the elimination of excess fluids. The warming effect of Methyl Nicotinate, derived from tobacco, allows the breaking down of fatty tissue and reactivates the circulation. The Fucus Algae accelerates the basal metabolic rate, the Ivy and Ginkgo Biloba (lipolytic, draining and thinners), allow the elimination of toxins, The Horse Chestnut and Thyme reshape and tone the capillaries.

WARNING: This product can cause a strong hyperemia (increased blood supply to the treated area) with redness and / or itching that may persist for 40-60 minutes. It is a normal reaction and absolutely harmless.

THERMO-ACTIVE GEL CELLULITE With Caffeine, Carnitine, Green Tea

COD. 52011_ML 500

Active antioxidants that elasticize, restructure, drain and tone are distributed into ampoules, gel masks and creams. They are a good way to prevent and gradually reduce the problem of lack of tone and sagging skin.

ACTIVE INGREDIENTES

ELASTIN: It is a protein that makes up the elastic fibers of the connective tissues. Dermal elastin is produced by cells called fibroblasts and gives elasticity and tone the skin. Elastin is an active ingredient widely used in cosmetics, it in fact, as well as give elasticity to the tissues, keeps hydrated collagen fibers, giving the skin soft and velvety aspect.

ALPHA LIPOIC ACID: It is an organic acid characterized by strong direct and indirect antioxidant activities. It protects the body from both intracellular free radicals from both extracellular ones, in both chemical forms present biologically. It has strong indirect antioxidant activity, important in regenerating the other antioxidants such as vitamin C, vitamin E, coenzyme Q10 and Glutathione. It is also well known for its metabolic activity, especially valuable in optimizing the oxidative metabolism of sugars.

COLLAGEN: It consists of long protein chains, which, for applicative purposes, are extracted, and "cut" in order to obtain shorter peptides. It not only provides the "building blocks" for the synthesis of new collagen in the skin, but the collagen-derived peptides also have an active role in stimulating the biochemical processes that determine the formation of new structural protein fibers. In particular, peptides containing proline and hydroxyproline, act as biological messengers the fibroblasts, as they stimulate growth and migration into the skin, where it shall ensure the synthesis of new collagen and the reorganization of the extracellular matrix.
