ACTIVE INGREDIENTES

GREEN CLAY: Ever since the times older green clay has been exploited for its remarkable properties both in the aesthetic field that as a natural remedy for some types of problems and disorders. The clay is moreover considered as the agent of the most powerful detoxification. It has a number of health benefits so that is exploited as therapeutic treatment and is also one of the most used in mud therapy.

ALGA SPIRULINA: It is edible blue algae, with its characteristic narrow and elongated shape, which has many nutritional and medicinal properties. Rich in high biological value proteins, essential amino acids, vitamins (B, E and H), minerals and lipids, it is an effective natural supplement. It is an excellent draining and, therefore, is able to effectively fight cellulite; this blue seaweed, also promoting an increase in the metabolism of lipids, causes not settle unsightly fat deposits on the hips, thighs and buttocks.

DEAD SEA SALT: The Dead Sea salts with their unique composition favor the establishment of a special "osmotic exchange" mechanism. In practice, by dissolving these salts in water you are obtained a solution with a concentration of higher mineral to that present inside our body; when we plunge into the solution of water and salts, is created a recall towards the interior of minerals (what happens to rebalance the concentration of the two solutions, and this phenomenon is known with the name "osmosis") and a release from inside towards the outside of liquid cargo of toxins, thus obtaining an action of cutaneous remineralization combined with a draining and purifying effect.
